"The elections in the North demonstrates that the majority of the people there are opposed to the South having representation in Congress until we acknowledge ourselves the meanest of traitors, and confess to such unmitigated scoundrels as Butler and Brownlow, that we owe our lives and property entirely to their mercy. In a word, if we tarnish our honor and disgrace our posterity-if we make the son of Ham our superior-then they will consider our right to representation in Congress ; but, even in that event, they do not agree to let the South be represented .-Strange to say creatures calling themselves MEN-men of Southern birth-are found willing to bow the neck to any amount of dishonor, shame and degredation exacted .-And for what? What will we gain by dishonoring ourselves ? Representation in Congress? Perhaps so, and perhaps not. But admit that we get representation in Congress. by base self dishonor, what good will it avail us ! We hold that men base enough to dishonor themselves have no right to entail dis honor on the posterity.

What, then, is our duty, as MEN-men of honor and common decency ? Would you know? Then listen: Refuse to endorse the "Constitutional amendment"-consent to stay out of Congress, as you have been doing, and carry the right of Congres to impose taxes on you without representation, to thel Supreme Court of the United States. That Court, if Court it can be called, being as fou and corrupt as any dead carcass that ever hatched vermin, will no doubt decide against you, but then it will betray its intamy to the civilized world.

Southern men-men of honor-stand firm in opposition to voting base dishonor on your heads-and if entailed upon you by ruffian arms of corrupt oppressors, you can at least have the proud satisfaction of exclaiming to generations in ages far yet to come, "Thou canst not say I did it!"

The Wilmington Dispatch is not sure that the South would not succeed in another contional government was right in suppressing the rebellion. It says:

"War never settles a principle. It only decides how far a principle may be asserted; and whether the party claiming to be governed by it has the power to command a respect for it. The doctrine preached by Northern papers that the questions which divided the sections of this country are settled, and that the principles for which the South contended are determined to be wrong, is stuff. No rights have been determined by the defeat of the Southern people in their cfforts to achieve independence. The only question which has been determined is that as to whether the South or the North is strongest. Some minds are not so fully satisfied even on that point, but are of the opinion that with the same chances and the new experience which the South has acquired, the result obtained, in another conflict, would be Of this we are in doubt, though we are inclined to believe it is so; but this does not and cannot affect the question as to whether the North or the South ought to pass, Snead, Thompson-7. have triumphed. So far as we are concerned our opinions are the same to-day that they were in 1861. only a little more so; and we believe that the truth will yet be vindicated. If not in our generation, at least in those that follow. We think that the Southern people are very foolish to tacitly acknowledge that the war has ended in the triumph of a principle, and in the vindication of its merit; and admit that, because conquered, they were wrong .-War is the instrument that brute force employs to commit injustice; not the court in which justice is distributed."

Great is Secessia! And yet these are the men who are "demanding their rights" at the hands of Congress! These are the men who are ruling and domineering over Southern Unionists! How long is this to endure?

The Forthcoming Message.

NEW YORK, November 19 .- The " Post's" Washington special says that the facts divul-ged to-day show but little hope that the President will recommend impartial suffrage in his message.

A special to the "Commercial" says it is confidently expected that reconstruction will the House of Commons. be amicably settled early in the approaching session. Negotiations for that purpose are in progress between the President and leading politicians of all parties North and Sonth .-The basis of settlement will be universal snffrage and general amnesty. The President partially accedes to this proposition, but insists on constitutional grounds that the question of suffrage properly belongs to the States, and he is, so far, averse to any action of Congress upon that subject.

The telegram also states if assurances can be obtained from Southern leaders of the speedy adoption of universal suffrage, the President will waive his objection.
